LEGION TO SPONSOR ORATORICAL CONTEST FOR LOCAL STUDENTS

Gen. Louis F. Gagne, Chairman of the special school Americanism committee of the Clement R. Bontemps Post 139, announced today that this committee will direct the Hancock County division of the National Oratorical Contest.

This contest, based on the US Constitution, is sponsored yearly by the National Legion of Education. Last year 325,000 students from 47 states were represented in the contest.

Eliminations will be held at each of the six secondary schools in the county. The winner of each elimination will advance to the county finals. A county final will be held in February to determine the high school orator who will represent the local Post in higher competitions.

Awards in the contest range from four scholarships on the National level to war bond awards of $200, $100 and $50. A $25 bond will be awarded the county winner by the local Legion. National Scholarships range from $4000 down to $500. Special medals and certificates also will be awarded. A special gift of a pen and pencil set will be awarded the teacher of the student winning the county finals.

Work on organization for the setup of the Hancock County Blood Bank is under way.

Joseph Benvenuti, attorney for the organization, is working on legal details that will have to be taken care of to insure the proper functioning of this community project.

With assistance of money by the county, it is necessary that details be carefully considered before plunging headlong into the typing of blood.

Once the bank is started, it will be a permanent function of the community. In the interim, persons who have been typed by the Red Cross can register their names by calling either Dixon's Drug Store, C & S Grocery or Mrs. Wilson Wittenberger, Secretary of the Hancock County Blood Bank.

Mrs. Wittenberger reported that all names received by Red Cross from donors who signed release cards had been turned over to her. A card system will be installed for reference.

Miss Edna Isom, Technician, will start work as soon as the committee is in a position to purchase the necessary supplies. Appointments will then be made for typing at King's Daughters Hospital.

1785 TELEPHONES IN BAY SAYS SOUTHERN BELL

As the nation today observed the installation of the 50,000,000th telephone, a total of 1,785 telephones were in service in Bay St. Louis, J. C. Dabney, manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Co., revealed today.

Mississippi has 263,376 of the US's telephones, including 257,376 Southern Bell telephones and 6,000 operated by 37 other telephone companies in the state.

"Telephone progress here in Bay St. Louis is symbolic of communications progress throughout the nation," Dabney said.

"The number of telephones here has more than doubled since 1945 and the number continues to increase. The heavy demand for more telephones service that we have experienced in Mississippi and Bay St. Louis has been felt throughout the nation."

Presentation of the 50,000,000th telephone to President Eisenhower as head of the nation was made at Washington by the American Telephone Industry, represented by Cio Crisp, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Warren B. Clay, president of the US Independent Telephone Association.

Dabney pointed out that additions to Mississippi's Telephone System are a barometer of progress in the state and the South as a whole.

"Since 1945," he said, "Southern Bell telephones throughout Dixie have more than doubled, reflecting a great surge of business, industrial and agricultural activity throughout this section of the country. Southern Bell and independent companies working in close cooperation have had an important part in the development of the commercial, industrial and agricultural South," he said.

DRIVE SAFELY THANKSGIVING AND BE ALIVE CHRISTMAS

Colonel T. B. Birdsong, Commissioner of Public Safety, has today issued an appeal to all motorists to drive and travel safely during the Thanksgiving Holiday Period.

Colonel Birdsong stated, "This year we did not have a traffic fatality on the Mississippi streets and highways on the 4th of July or Labor Day, and in each instance we had more drivers and passengers on our highways than ever before, and for the entire period of these holidays we had no more accidents than a normal weekend. With everyone doing their part, we can have another Deathless Holiday on the highways. However, this period will be one of those long four-day holiday weekends. With a number of schools playing football on Thanksgiving Day, the Old Miss State football game on Saturday, many people going to relatives and many other projects throughout the State, all of our highways will be crowded to capacity."

PHYSIO THERAPIST OPENS OFFICE HERE

Mrs. Florence Foegele, the only registered physio therapist on the Gulf Coast between New Orleans and Gulfport has opened offices in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Foegele, who resides in Clarendon Harbor, formerly commuted to New Orleans, where she maintained her offices. But, feeling the need for such work as hers on the Coast, and in view of the fact that many of her patients in New Orleans are from this area, she felt it would be a greater convenience for the Coast people if her services were more readily available to this area.

Working entirely through the recommendations of medical doctors, Mrs. Foegele gives diathermy, electrical and massage treatments, as well as graduated exercises.

Although she works mainly through orthopedic doctors, many patients of local doctors have been recommended by them to Mrs. Foegele, and she is known to a number of Coast residents for her work.

Her offices are located in the Ger Building on Main Street.

JACKSON—The State Senate adjourned today and passed two bills as part of the Negro School Segregation program before adjourning until next Monday for a Thanksgiving holiday.

The senators adopted without serious opposition House Bill 12 setting up uniform accounting systems for all Mississippi schools and House Bill 13, an act to provide for auditors to check school bookkeeping.

The auditors would check the attendance records of schools and enrollment figures on which were money for school districts is based.

Passing the bills to get more money than the enrollment calls for was found to be widespread among schools where the authors made their study last summer.

The final vote on the uniform accounting bill was 40-1 with Sen. Murray Williams of Water Valley, lone opponent. The vote on passing the auditor check of school enrollment was 37-4 with Sen. J. B. Porter of Union, Clarendon, Stoddard of Amory, Williams of Water Valley and Pat Bridge of Hattiesburg voting against it.

The house adjourned at 2 p. m. and is expected to follow the Senate's lead in adjourning until next Monday.

Yesterday the Senate passed the program's first revenue bill.

The bill authorizing a bond issue to finance construction of new school facilities was passed last night. It was a narrow 29-15 margin, since revenue measures require a three-fifths majority to pass. A final vote will come later because it was held on a motion to reconsider, requiring another balloting.

However, the Senate trimmed the original measure, which called for a maximum of $60 million dollars in bonds that could be floated against expected credits from proposed tax increases in the program. By amendment, the Senate cut the bill to a $30 million dollar ceiling.

The measure has not come up in the House where legislators debated over program transportation measures without calling a vote.

Sen. W. B. Alexander of Bolivar told the special session of the Legislature the bill is most important thus far considered in the special session.

"If any bill has any effect on the US Supreme Court," Alexander said in this first speech of the session, "this one will have the most effect, as it does more than lip service to the separate but equal school systems for the races."

Speculation had it that the bill would be a stumbling block for the program since Gov. Hugh White has said he would not approve a bond issue for schools during his administration.

But the governor gave program supporters encouragement with an announcement that he would not disapprove of the bill.

"It will have no effect on the bill regardless of the bond issue," White said. "I will do nothing to hurt final passage of the school program."

Sen. Earl Evans of Canton, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, opposed the bill, advocating a pay-as-you-go plan, along with Sen. Stanton Hall of Hattiesburg.

Program opponents tried to send the bill back to committee in the same way they recommitted a bill two weeks ago. But the Senate rejected an Evans motion to send it back to the finance Committee by a 22-20 vote.

Meanwhile, the House resumed debate on a bill providing for school children's transportation. The measure has encountered delays in the House although all opposing amendments have been defeated on test votes.

The bill provides for state-maintained transportation of all children who live at least one and one-half miles from a school or a transportation route. The measure cuts the half mile from the present standard.

The payment of bus drivers in the measure ignited a heated debate, also. The bill calls for a ceiling of $30 an hour, plus a bonus of $10 for each mile driven. The measure would cut the bonus from the present $15 to $10, but the bonus would be paid on the basis of mileage, instead of on the basis of time.

The measure would be paid by the school district themselves, but it would be paid by the state.

Sen. William Farmer of Vicksburg moved an amendment to make the school responsible for any injury to a school child while in the bus. His amendment setting the liability of maximum of $1000 for any child was passed decisively.

Yesterday the Senate passed the program's first revenue bill.

The bill authorizing a bond issue to finance construction of new school facilities was passed last night. It was a narrow 29-15 margin, since revenue measures require a three-fifths majority to pass. A final vote will come later because it was held on a motion to reconsider, requiring another balloting.

However, the Senate trimmed the original measure, which called for a maximum of $60 million dollars in bonds that could be floated against expected credits from proposed tax increases in the program. By amendment, the Senate cut the bill to a $30 million dollar ceiling.

The measure has not come up in the House where legislators debated over program transportation measures without calling a vote.

Sen. W. B. Alexander of Bolivar told the special session of the Legislature the bill is most important thus far considered in the special session.

"If any bill has any effect on the US Supreme Court," Alexander said in this first speech of the session, "this one will have the most effect, as it does more than lip service to the separate but equal school systems for the races."

Speculation had it that the bill would be a stumbling block for the program since Gov. Hugh White has said he would not approve a bond issue for schools during his administration.

But the governor gave program supporters encouragement with an announcement that he would not disapprove of the bill.

"It will have no effect on the bill regardless of the bond issue," White said. "I will do nothing to hurt final passage of the school program."

Sen. Earl Evans of Canton, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, opposed the bill, advocating a pay-as-you-go plan, along with Sen. Stanton Hall of Hattiesburg.

Program opponents tried to send the bill back to committee in the same way they recommitted a bill two weeks ago. But the Senate rejected an Evans motion to send it back to the finance Committee by a 22-20 vote.

Meanwhile, the House resumed debate on a bill providing for school children's transportation. The measure has encountered delays in the House although all opposing amendments have been defeated on test votes.

The bill provides for state-maintained transportation of all children who live at least one and one-half miles from a school or a transportation route. The measure cuts the half mile from the present standard.

The payment of bus drivers in the measure ignited a heated debate, also. The bill calls for a ceiling of $30 an hour, plus a bonus of $10 for each mile driven. The measure would cut the bonus from the present $15 to $10, but the bonus would be paid on the basis of mileage, instead of on the basis of time.

The measure would be paid by the school district themselves, but it would be paid by the state.

Sen. William Farmer of Vicksburg moved an amendment to make the school responsible for any injury to a school child while in the bus. His amendment setting the liability of maximum of $1000 for any child was passed decisively.

The Senate adjourned today and passed two bills as part of the Negro School Segregation program before adjourning until next Monday for a Thanksgiving holiday.

The senators adopted without serious opposition House Bill 12 setting up uniform accounting systems for all Mississippi schools and House Bill 13, an act to provide for auditors to check school bookkeeping.

The auditors would check the attendance records of schools and enrollment figures on which were money for school districts is based.

Passing the bills to get more money than the enrollment calls for was found to be widespread among schools where the authors made their study last summer.

The final vote on the uniform accounting bill was 40-1 with Sen. Murray Williams of Water Valley, lone opponent. The vote on passing the auditor check of school enrollment was 37-4 with Sen. J. B. Porter of Union, Clarendon, Stoddard of Amory, Williams of Water Valley and Pat Bridge of Hattiesburg voting against it.

The house adjourned at 2 p. m. and is expected to follow the Senate's lead in adjourning until next Monday.

HISTORIC LESSON

HOW STRANGE it is that these wretched creatures of the past should be of the race that built those magnificent cities in the desert," said the Roman centurion.

"They were a great race," said his fellow officer, "but they, like so many other races, made the mistake of becoming lethargic and weak, and disinterested in the government when they became great."

"Ah, the grandeur that was Rome," sighed the American tourist. "And to think, she might be here today if it were not for the fact that the Romans lost interest in their government in favor of empty pleasures; if they had not become corrupt and lazy and let selfish politicians control them."

"True," said his companion, "the barbarians would never have conquered Rome if Rome had not first fallen."

These bits of rock with curious inscriptions on them, which I found last weekend on an asteroid, should be of interest to the archeology professor," mused Arn to himself.

The professor was speaking: "...and on the screen here you see the ruins of the greatest city of ancient America, New York. Notice the deactivator units cleansing the city of radioactivity. It has been only within the last few years that our scientists have discovered a way to remove the radioactivity caused by the wars of the Ancients. America could have survived all these wars and gone on to greater things if it had not been for the fact that America had fallen before America was defeated. Its people had become immoral, they had lost interest in the government; in short, America had decayed from within."

And Arn wondered, silently, why it is that all of the great countries of the world, the ones that could not be defeated from without, had all fallen from the same cause: dissipation of the people who composed them.

CAGE PRACTICE BEGINS AS COURT SEASON NEARS

On the afternoon of November 11 the 1953 edition of the St. Stanislaus basketball team held their first practice. With a brilliant record of only nine games lost last season, this year's five starts off with high hopes.

Coach "Dutch" Helm will again direct basketball activities this year, with six boys returning from last year's squad. Of these boys, T. Schaffer is the only returning letterman. But there are four boys returning that saw service last year: These are L. Laddier, E. Adalpe, A. Percival and B. Wilbert.

TIGERS NAB 5TH OF SEASON AS MONTI SPARKS VICTORY DRIVE

Friday night at St. Stanislaus Stadium the Bay High Tigers won their fifth game of the season by downing Demonstration 27-13 for a homecoming victory.

Freshman Henry Monti again led the Tigers to victory. This time he scored three touchdowns and made sparkling runs.

The class officers of the seventh grade were elected. Those elected were: Sallie Chevis, President; Catherine Alister, Vice President; Cora Mae Vetter, Secretary and Treasurer; and Margie Green, Reporter. Sponsor is Coach Lader.

The Homemaking Department was the scene of a colorful flower arrangement demonstration Thursday at eleven o'clock.

Mrs. L. T. Boyd, of the Bay-Walton Garden Club, demonstrated flower arrangement with chrysanthemums and gladioli, emphasizing every flower arrangement with a focal point. Other points of emphasis were the difference in symmetrical and asymmetrical arrangement. Never have two flowers the same length, the light color and the small flowers go at the top, and containers play an important part in making a pleasing flower arrangement.

A Thanksgiving flower arrangement was made as well as some Christmas suggestions with candles.

The fifty-six girls observing the demonstration were anxious to try their hand, which they had an opportunity to do later in the day.

Everyone from the seventh grade to the twelfth grade was in a turmoil last week, trying to get their homeroom decoration ready for the parade Friday night. The cheerleaders sponsored the contest and a surprise award was to be given to the winner.

Miss Blaise's homeroom Juniors won first place. They had a Demonstration "Demon" hanging from a lynch tree and a Tiger smiling satisfactorily under him saying, "I cannot tell a lie. I did it." The Juniors put out plenty of work on their decoration and were overjoyed at winning. Jerry Blumvenn painted the signs and Tiger. Other members of the class helped with the rest of the decorations.

The second place winner was Miss Hall's Sophomores. Their decoration consisted of an "Ironed out Demon" hanging from a sign made by Carson Landers, who put a lot of work on it.

Infant Baptized

Alfred Joseph Geoffrey III, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Geoffrey Jr., was baptized Sunday, Nov. 22 at Our Lady of the Gulf Church. Sponsors were Mrs. Norman Glass, sister of Mrs. Geoffrey, and Horace Geoffrey, brother of the father of the baby.

The baby's mother was the former Anna Mae Sauter, daughter of Mrs. Camille Sauter. This is Mrs. Sauter's 10th grandchild. Following the Church Services there was a family gathering at the home of the infant's parents at 207 Necaise Ave.

Warrent Officer and Mrs. Glass and children, from Kessler Field, were the only out-of-town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fush and children of New Orleans spent the week-end with Mrs. Fush's mother, Mrs. Felix Breun at her home on North Beach.

...if there were only
ONE telephone
in the world

If you had the only telephone in the world, you couldn't use it. There would be nobody else you could call.

The value of a telephone is in the great number of people you can reach with it. You can talk with almost anyone, anywhere—quickly, easily and at low cost.

Last week the number of telephones in this nation passed the 50,000,000 mark. That's more than there are in all the rest of the world. It figures out to about one telephone for every three people in this country.

Most of these telephones are served by local Bell Companies like Southern Bell. Nearly 9,000,000, however, are operated by 5900 other companies.

In no other nation is the telephone so available, so useful and so low in cost.

FAST GROWTH IN DIXIE...
The number of telephones in the areas served by Southern Bell has jumped from 1,863,204 at the beginning of 1946 to more than 4,200,000 today.
